PUBLIC SCHOLARSHIP ON RELIGION

MEDIA PARTNERSHIP

The Revealer (1 partnership available)

Sacred Writes is now accepting applications for a funded media partnership with The Revealer. Applicants must have training in religious studies, theology, biblical studies, or a related field. This partnership is open to faculty, independent scholars, and graduate students. Priority deadline for applications is 31 January 2020.

ABOUT THE REVEALER

The Revealer is an online magazine that explores religion and its many roles in society and people's lives. Published ten times a year, The Revealer aims to provide a wider lens, greater context, and more nuanced perspectives on topics of public interest. With more than 3,500 dedicated subscribers, The Revealer attracts roughly 9,000 readers each month, giving our writers the opportunity to reach an educated and engaged public audience.

SCOPE

The Revealer invites applications for one writing fellowship to produce three articles on topics related to religion in the scholar's area of expertise. This fellowship is thematically open, provided the articles address religion, theology, or biblical studies. These three pieces may take the form of research essays, opinion pieces, or book/film/tv reviews. The Revealer prefers but does not require a variety of formats for these pieces.

Articles will be developed under the direction of Brett Krutzsch, editor for The Revealer, and must be completed between April 2020 and March 2021. Production schedule will be set in consultation with the editor and will account for the scholar's pre-existing commitments. Together, Sacred Writes and The Revealer will provide a \$2,000 stipend to the scholar selected for this partnership as well as up to \$1,000 for research or publication related expenses, such as travel or commissions for original artwork, photography, or images.
